Hi Mick

Further to our conversation last week
I did 158 ASR cups
We pulled the notes at the end of last week and I spent the weekend going over them

I have made a start by creating a summary
My concern is that this is the tip of the iceberg and that there are many more patients out there having problems - two new problems appeared last week (they are both included)

The outcomes team are looking at the Oxford scores in these patients to see if they significantly differ from our other hips

Would be grateful for any comments

Thanks
David
